A SAD AND SUDDEN DEATH,

Cashier Leonard of the State Journal Company Dies of Heart Disease.

CLEARING OUT THE HOSPITAL.

King Mathewson's Wholesale Discharging of Employes-The Return of Eichorn's Supposed Murderer-Capital City News.

TEROM THE BEE'S LINCOLS BUREAU. The people of Lincoln were shocked yesterday to hear of the death of J. C. Leonard, who died suddenly and without warning at his home on N and Fifteenth streets, at 8 o'clock in the morning. Mr. Leonard was at his place of business yesterday as usual, and though he has been afflicted with heart disease, death came without warning. J. C. Leonard has been for the past ten years cashier of the State Journal company, a position that he has filled so ably and well that he won the name of being one of the best and most accurate men in that business that could be found. In Lincoln he was among the city's bestknown citizens and highly regarded by all. As a member of the Congregational church, he was active in good works as he was industrious in business. Mr. Leonard's early life and home was at Beardstown, Ill., where he accumulated property and was a wealthy man. He came to Kansas, and from there to Lincoin, where he has since continuously resided and held the position before mentioned with the Journal company. Rheumatism of the heart is ascribed as the cause of his death.

HARMONY AT THE HOSPITAL. The rumor of trouble at the insane hospital between the superintendent and employes was whispered on the streets a few days ago, but to get information from the institution itself is like trying to get eastle secrets in the sixteenth century when the moat is filled and the drawbridge up. Inquiring of members of the toard of public lands and buildings showed that they were in the dark as to certain goings on, but it is ascertained that week before last four employes were either voluntarily dismissed or crowded out. It is stated that five more passed between the upper and weather milestones the last week, and seven more are only kept from leaving by the threat of loss of salary already carned if they leave. All this is evidence of the harmony out at the king's palace, and all comes under the grand scheme to clean out every one who does not bow the knee. It is further in evidence that preparations are being made for the day of reckoning that will fall that institution one of these days. Many of these changes are brought about by the system of circumlocution adopted there by which employes are changed from place to place, and ground down to positions that become a burden, and make to them resignment preferable to staying. One of the reasons for the late upheavals is ascribed by a former employe to be from the fact that whereas there was once posted rules there for the government of the help, rules that were adopted by the board of lands and buildings, but which rules, it is openly stated, have since been removed by the superintendent, removed a year and a half ago a certain number of hours each month were allowed attendants to have for themselves to come to the city or use as they wished, and it was through the action of the superintendent in grindg down men against their rights under the rules that the wholesale resignations and dismissals have come to pass. All this is but the end of the beginning, and there are excellent prospects of rich developments, and while all is slowly coming to light the helpless insane will pass under the care of new and untried help, whose first qualifications must be to worship the king and swear secrecy.

CIRCUMSTANTIAL EVIDENCE.
The arrest and return of Charles Maul to this city for the murder of Eichorn is one of the prominent topics of conversation, and the preliminary hearing Tues day will be watched with much interest Either the man will secure his freedom through his own and lack of evidence against him, or else he will be bound in a chain of circumstantial evidence that will make one of the most interesting criminal trials in the annals of the state. As the case is, so far as known, there is not a living witness to the tragic death of Eichorn without the murderer witnessed his own deed. Lying in the ditch beside the road two miles east of Lincoln with a revolver (his revolver) by his side and a bullet-hole through his head was young Eichorn found. He lived to be brought to the city, but consciousness never re turned and not a word fell from his lips It was a case where a word would have cleared a mystery or established a crime but without the word nothing but circum stances are left to trace the secret of the man's death. It is expected that the detectives will show that Maul was in Lincoln without money, that he became acquainted with Eichorn, that he knew Eichorn had money and was with him when he showed a hundred dollar bill, that the two were seen walking in the direction of where the dead man was tound, that they were seen together not twenty minutes before the tragedy, that after this Maul disappeared and in two days was in Galesburg, Ill., with money. Whatever else may be shown is a secret that the officers are holding fast.

MAUL AND HIS HISTORY. On the other hand there is but very little known of Maul in this locality, and imme-diately upon his arrest in Illinois he procured attorneys who gave him strict orders to speak to no one, consequently not a word has escaped him tending in any way or referring to the murder and the crime with which he is charged. His attorney accompanied him to Lincoln and when the time for his hearing was being fixed the attorney objected to the justice speaking alone with the prisoner, however, a clipping from a Galesburg paper gives something of Maul's antecedents, and as throwing some light on the character of the young man will not be uninteresting. That paper says:

"Mr. Charles Maul, a resident of Galesburg, was arrested Thursday for the murder of a man at Lincoln, Neb. Maul has lived here all his life except since about the first of May. He has for the past two winters attended the Western business college, in which his mother had pur-chased a scholarship for him. It will be remembered that his father, who used to be in a meat market, died on board a vessel on his way to Europe. Since the death of his father his mother supported him and he has always led a somewhat dissolute life. He has been engaged in a good many unpleasant things, the most notable of which was the cutting of a negro. His mother and sisters are well known and honored and re-spected people. They have been quite different from the way ward Charles. He left the city last spring soon after the business college closed and has been in the west ever since. According to history he has been most of the time in Omana, Lincoln, Denver and Cheyenne In these places he says he worked at hetels. The murder for which he is charged was committed Sunday after neon, August 1st. The evidence that the detectives have against young Mant is circumstantial, though what and how much caunot be learned from h authorities having the case in charge. The detectives rigidly guard everything that would tend toward evidence in the case. A member of the Nebraska detective agency leaves to-night for Lincoln and ook and McKinzie are the attorneys for the young man."

The above is the record that the prisoner has from his own home, not a very enviable one or not one that in itself will help him out in explaining away the chain of evidence that surrounds him. Tuesday therefore will reveal what there is in the case for both parties.

TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS REWARD. The governor has issued a proclamation offering $200 reward for the arrest and conviction of Alex McCanghey, who, on the night of the 14th day of August, mordered Alonzo Adams at a dance at Nebraska City. The officials at that place have been making a determined search for the murderer, who they be-lieve is yet in hiding in this state. A published description of the man says he is twenty-eight years of age, five feet eight inches in height, weighs about 160 pounds, sandy complexion, red face, cancer on side of nose. Detective agencies stimulated by the offer of reward can now go to work.

POLICE ITEMS. Eight new victims of their own vagaries were boarders at the city jail yesterday, awaiting an opportunity to meet the judge face to face and to explain to that functionary their shortcomings. Most of them occupied the day yesterday in mending up their clothes.

Rosa Reed, a wild and erring female, who goes on a periodical drunk with the regularity of an old toper, was locked no yesterday for drunk and disorderly but was allowed to depart a few hours afterward upon depositing $15 for her appearance.
Fred Headland was the name of a party that was found by the police fighting and making night hideous, he will answer to the above charge in court to-day. Geo. Single and J. H. Patson are the names that two parties gave for them-selves who were arrested down in the Burlington & Missouri yards, where they had made a box-ear their eastle, and were having a hilarious time. They are recorded on the docket as vagrants.

John Russell, Mike Bradley, Mike Wilson, Wm. Crow, and Pat Bradley, com-prise the list of unornamented drunks that are awaiting sentence.

ITEMS IN GENERAL. Reddy Haynes, the back-driver who was so badly hacked up with a knife by the Duvall crowd, is so far recovered as to sit up and move around. His assailants who have been lying in jail without bail, to await the result of Haynes' injuries, will be given a hearing to-day under the charge and information of attempt to murder.

The fire department answered the first alarm that has been sent in for a month Saturday night, and a good run was made to the scene of the fire, on N and 12th streets, where the small frame barn of Coroner Roberts was found in flames and well nigh burned to the ground. Upon the arrival of the fire boys five minutes work drowned out the last spark. Loss inconsiderable; attendance four thousand five

A warrant has been issued for a clerk that has been for some time with a business firm in the city. The charge is embezzlement or getting money under false pretenses, but yesterday the party had not been found and it is thought that he has left the city. Real estate transfers have shown a marked increase in the last week and the fall opening of sales is about to commence. How much of this is due to the fact of the completion of the Missouri Pacific it would be hard to ascertain, but one real estate man has ventured the opinion that holders of lots are prepar-ing to mark everything up ten per cent

The B. & M. are replanking their depot platforms with heavy pine planks and several car loads will be required to do the job, but when it is down it will be nplete, substantial and lasting

Ben E. Glazier is a free man again from the state penitentiary and was on the streets of Lincoln yesterday. Glazier was sent up for three years for disposing of mortgaged property and other crooked financial transactions, and he has served his sentence less the good time made.

The colored man who was arrested and bound over for stealing cigars, will be tried in court on the charge of burglary and will undoubtedly go back to the penitentiary agein, from where he was only recently dismissed after serving a former sentence. His is a case wherein he failed to know when he had enough. AT THE HOTELS.

The following Nebraskans discussed Sunday bitts of fare at Lincoln hotels yesterday: George Williams, Louisville; G. D. Clark, Omaha; J. W. McCoy, Pawnee City; W. J. Woods, Broken Bow; J. H. Carter, Omaha; W. A. Sampson, Seward; A. C. Hartman, Wilber.

Pain in the region of the kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offspring of dyspepsia. One or two pills every n ight for a weekare sufficient.

Pulpit Briefs. Rev. W. R. Harsha preached his first sermon yesterday morning since his return from Harbor Point, Mich., where he has been spending a pleasant vacation. The sermon at the St. Mary's avenue

Congregational church was presented yesterday morning by Rev. H. C. Crane. At Boyd's opera house yesterday morning, the Rev. Alex Thompson presented an interesting sermon on the subject of "The Financial Value of Religion as a Business Investment."

The services generally throughout the city yesterday, both morning and evening, were poorly attended. This was doubtless owing to the extreme heat of the day.

Large Mortality.

The mortality for the week just ended was greater than for any of the seven preceding weeks. Still it was not proportionately too large for this season of the year. The hot spell has been particularly severe upon the children, for of the twenty-five deaths recorded last week

ten were of infants less than one year

Breaking camp.

Final hand-shaking and muster out.

Recruiting offices will be open on the grounds on and after Tuesday, September 1.

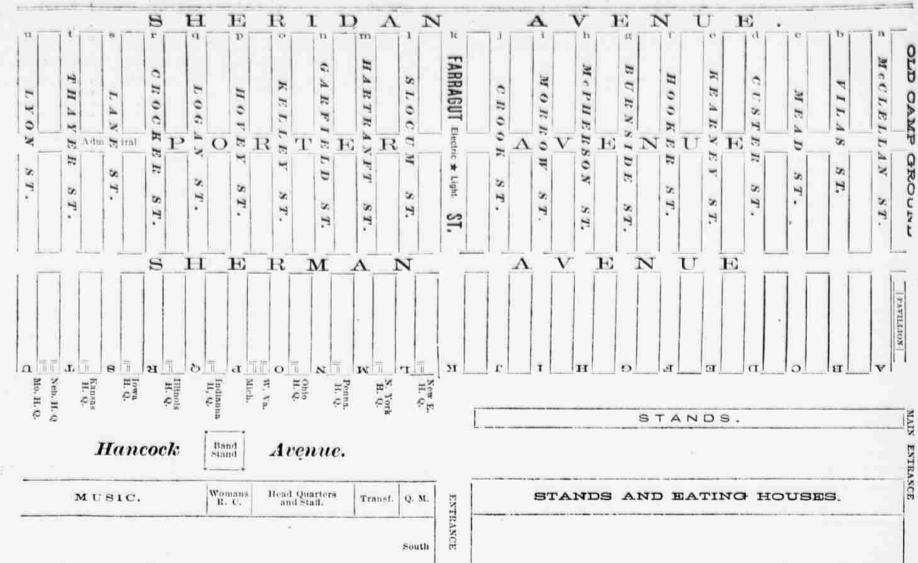

The comrades of the Grand Army of the Republic will heartily welcome all old brothers in-arms and their friends, whether they are members of the Grand Army of the Republic or not.

In addition to the foregoing attractions, arrangements have been made for a baseball tournament to be held here the same week. The Hastings Reds will play the Denvers, the Leadville, Leavenworth and perhaps Omaba clubs Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. As will be seen by the programme, three batteries and a large number of regular troops will assist in carrying out the programmes.

The naval feature of the reunion programme is destined to be the drawing card. It will be intensely interesting because of its extreme novelty and the elaborateness with which it will be carried out. Mr. Michael has built a com-plete model of the United States steamer Tyler, which will be a rep-resentative of the Mississippi squadron. This vessel will be the exact image of the old "black gunboat" that saved Grant at Belmont, his first fight in the war for the union, and supported him so nobly in his first day's bloody fight at Shiloh and saved the save Shiloh, and saved the small army of he-roic men at Helena on the 4th of July, 1868, from the overwhelming forces of rebel generals Holmes and Sterling Price. But the Tyler that will be exhibited at the reunion will not be a toy. She is sixty fect long and will move over the prairie sea as smoothly and proudly as the old boat ever did. The Congress, built under the supervision of Mr. Howell by Mr. Richter and others and rigged by Mr. Wright, is ninety feet long and constructed on the plan of the old Congress. She will be the very picture of a man-of-war. She will be attacked by the rebel ram Merrimae, and after defending herself with the degreed gallantsy of the old Congress. the dogged gallantry of the old Congress she will go down in flames but with her colors flying. This will be a scene that will more than repay a trip across the state. The next morning, at the break of day, when the Merrimae comes out to finish her work of destruction, she will find the little Monitor there as "big as life and as twice as natural" to welcome her, and after the bot contest, which is fixed in the minds of every American reader, the proud and victor-ious ram of the day before draws off, glad to escape with a shattered casement, a burt gun and a nad leak. Camp Grant, the location selected by the committee, is a beautiful section of prairie immediately north of the city. It has already been put in condition by re-moving everything from the surface exept the short, green prairie grass itself.

BROKEN BOW'S BOOM

Arrival of the Steam Horse-New Buildings-Business Enterprises. Broken Bow, August 20 .- [Correspondence of the BEE.]-To-day is the red letter day in the history of Broken Bow. After long and patient waiting we have a railroad at last. To-day at 3 p. m. the rails were laid across Fourth avenue, the main street running north and south past the court house. To-night the band is playing, fireworks are being sent up and all is in a general uproar. At 6 p. m, the track layers were called into the public square and refreshed with watermeions, lemonade and eigars, to the music of our cornet band. Monday night the regular passenger will arrive and regularly thereafter.

And now our little "boom" begins to boom, morning, noon and night doth the merry whistle of the engine awake new echoes around our heads, where never before was heard such music. Where but short time ago was peace and quiet ude, ne 7 hurry and bustle reign supreme. Our early settlers who came to this country five, eight, ten and some fifteen years ago, and who in all that time have never heard or seen a train of ears, now awake to find a depot in his yard and a town springing up all around him. Verily the "Great American desert" is a our crops are above the average, corn is a splendid crop, oats medium, and wheat way up. Some pieces cannot be beat in this state or any other. While other sections were suffering for rain, we had plenty and to spare. While we do not believe in sending out such highly colored reports as some who are doing s that have property to dispose of, yet we do think we have as good a town as there is in the state for the size of it. All the improvements in the way of new build ings are mostly of brick. Scarcety a day passes but we hear of some new brick being contracted for. In the way of hotels we have one two-story brick sfxty-six by sixty-six, one frame sixty-six by eighty two stories, and the third one now under way, sixty-six by eighty, three stories, of brick, with all the the modern improvements. General merchandise is well represented, and in fact all kinds of business begins to look a little crowded, and there seems to be a tendency to overdo them all, and as there is a bitter light between the old and new town, they laying about three blocks apart with a creek between, the chances are that by next year this time our mer-chants will find trade rather quiet, unless the railroad comes to our aid and gives us a division station. We now have a town well up to the demands of the farming community. What we need now is more substantial farmers to improve the idle lands of which there are acres and acres of as fine land as lays out doors.

The county normal is now in session with a large attendance. Chancellor Manatt will be present next week and de-liver a lecture before the class. Professor Jones, state superintendent of public instruction, will also be present one or two days next week. Mr. Frye, of Grand Island, was here yesterday and purchased four lots and will commence the erection of a steam roller mill with a 200-barrel per day capacity, and, as there is no mill above us and none below nearer than Algernon, twenty miles away, it is pretty safe to say it will be a paying investment for Mr.

The Custer county fair will be held September 21, 22 and 23, and it is now being talked up to have a big barbeoue on the second day of the fair in honor of our new railroad. A meeting will be held in the opera house next Monday evening to perfect arrangements to that The political pot has not received much warmth yet in this section of the country, but indications are that Thayer for governor will have a walk away over Clarke or any other candidate, while Van Wyck will find it as easy sailing as Thayer. Last Saturday occurred one of the most brutal and unwarranted murders that uster county has known since the days the famous Olive gang held their sway Nelson Van Riper and Thomas Vincent, living about seventeen miles south of Broken Bow, on the South Loup, had a dispute of their boundary lines, and call ing on the county surveyor, found that Vincent was occupying part of Van Riper's land. Van Riper then got out papers and. Van Riper then got out papers of ejectment, and Jesse White was authorized to serve them, but Vincent talked so defant that White left without doing so. Van Riper's brother-in-law, Enoch Young, then took the papers to serve and met Vincent in the field, and telling him what he came for, Vincent The camp is now being staked out and the streets and blocks are being labelled with the same regularity and precision that a civil engineer would use in laying out a substantial city. The buildings in course of erection have more of a substriking him in the breast and stomach, Rockwood was notified, and came and arrested ais man and brought him to Broken Bow, where Vincent waived examination and was held without bail to appear before the district court.

Among the new ousiness houses just started we might mention W. H. Chin & Co., general merchandise, Ed McComas & Co., Drug, and Gentral Nebraska Banking company, (Collman & Inman), all of whom have splendid brick buildings and large stocks.

BLOOD AND MONEY.

The blood of man has much to do in shaping his actions during his pilgrimage through this roublesome world, regardless of the amount of present or expectant money in pocket or stored away in bank. It is a conceded fact that we appear as our blood makes us, and the purer the blood, the happier, healthier, prettier and wiser we are; hence the oft repeated interrogatory, "how is your blood?" With pure stream of life-giving fluid coursing through our veins, bounding through our hearts and ploughing through our physical frames; our morals become better, our constitution stronger, our intelloctual faculties more acute and grander, and tren, women and children happier, healthier
